Figure 1. An integrated framework for realizing the "future we want for all" in the post-2015 UN development agenda.
1. Inclusive national consultation processes:
   Lead by the RCs and building on on-going consultations, they will feed into the post-2015 formal process.

2. Thematic consultations with academia, media, private sector, employers and trade unions, civil society, and decision makers on the current central challenges to the post-2015 development.

3. Web Portal and social media to allow open interaction and information exchange among a range of stakeholders:
   - worldwewant2015.org
   - myworld2015.org
What are they telling us?

MDGs should be accelerated as the building blocks of development

Lots of ideas on how the MDG model can be improved

People see the MDGs as fundamental, but not enough
